Message from IDA President

The 52nd Dairy Industry Conference comes at a defining moment for India's dairy sector. As the world's largest milk producer, India holds immense promise—not just in quantity, but in the opportunity to lead global innovation in dairy processing, nutrition, sustainability, and value addition.

Today, the Indian dairy industry is not only a cornerstone of rural livelihoods, empowering over 80 million farmers, but also a critical contributor to the nation's food security and nutritional goals. With rising consumer awareness, increasing demand for high-quality and functional dairy products, and a booming food processing sector, the scope for growth has never been greater.

However, the sector also faces evolving challenges—climate resilience, feed and fodder sustainability, modernised cold chains, and integration of technology for traceability and efficiency. This conference presents an unmatched platform to deliberate on these pressing issues and collaborate on future-ready solutions.

Bringing together producers, processors, technocrats, researchers, policymakers, and entrepreneurs from across the nation and beyond, the 52nd Dairy Industry Conference is poised to be the epicentre of ideas, innovation, and inclusive growth.

Let us use this opportunity to align with national priorities like Doubling Farmers' Income, Make in India, and the vision of a self-reliant Bharat (Atmanirbhar Bharat), while charting the course for India's dairy sector to achieve global excellence.

We look forward to vibrant discussions, meaningful partnerships, and transformative outcomes from this gathering of dairy visionaries.

India : White Revolution to Global Dairy Domination

India is the world's largest milk producer, contributing more than 25% of the world's milk production. The dairy industry in India is experiencing robust growth, propelled by technological innovation, enhanced retail and e-commerce platforms, and improved cold chain infrastructure, meeting rising consumer demand with a diversified and quality-focused product range.

From White Revolution to Global Domination, India's dairy sector has come a long way, with dairy cooperatives playing a transformative role since the launch of Operation Flood. This journey is deeply woven into the nation's remarkable growth story post-independence. Beyond just being an industry, dairy farming is a lifeline for over 80 million rural households, the majority of whom are small and marginal farmers or landless workers. Cooperative societies have not only empowered farmers economically but have also bridged social divides, breaking barriers of gender, caste, religion, and community. More than just a means of livelihood, the dairy industry serves as a powerful driver of women's empowerment, providing them with financial independence and a stronger voice in their communities.

About the 52nd Dairy Industry Conference and Exhibition

Empowering Rural India Through Dairy Entrepreneurship

India's premier dairy event — the 52nd Dairy Industry Conference & Exhibition — returns as the most significant platform where scale meets opportunity to shape the future of the global dairy sector. Rapidly emerging as one of the most influential dairy gatherings worldwide, this edition is setting benchmarks that rival or surpass long-standing summits like the Nordic Dairy Congress, Global Dairy Innovation Congress, and its MENA counterpart.

This year's theme, "Empowering Rural India Through Dairy Entrepreneurship," reinforces the role of the dairy sector as a critical driver of inclusive growth, rural livelihood, and sustainable economic development. The conference & Exhibition will spotlight innovations, success stories, and scalable models that can transform rural communities by turning dairy farming into profitable enterprises and encouraging youth participation in the sector.

India, the world's largest producer and consumer of dairy, is uniquely positioned with unmatched scale and momentum. Its growth is propelled by rising urbanisation, increasing health awareness, expanding cold chain infrastructure, and surging demand for value-added products like cheese, ice cream, and traditional dairy-based sweets. These dynamics make the Indian Dairy Industry Conference a vital platform for global dairy leadership.

After 51 successful editions, the 52nd Dairy Industry Conference & Exhibition will be held from 12th to 14th February 2026 at Yashobhoomi Convention Centre, Dwarka, New Delhi offering cutting-edge infrastructure and exceptional accessibility for domestic and international participants.

Whether you're involved in dairy processing, packaging, cold chain logistics, animal health, or part of a dairytech startup, this is your opportunity to showcase innovations, connect with industry leaders, explore emerging markets, and engage in high-value collaborations.

The 52nd Dairy Industry Conference & Exhibition is not just an event — it's the heart of a global movement toward sustainable, inclusive dairy development. With expert-led sessions, impactful networking opportunities, and a focus on rural empowerment, this edition promises to set the course for the next era of dairy excellence.

Be a part of India's dairy transformation. Be where the future of dairy begins.
